

EUROPE'S TROUBLES.

SEVERAL ADDITIONS MADE TO THE STOCK LAST WEEK.

TURKEY CAUSED TWO OF THEM HER HEAD BADLY SWELLED SINCE SHE WHIPPED GREECE.

Russia and Austria Both Bring Her to Time With Ultimatum—Germany's Seizure of Kiaochow Causes Excitement.

London, Nov. 20.—(Copyrighted, 1897, by the Associated Press.) The stock of international politics has been agitated during the last few days by two or three bones which promise to furnish an arena for plenty of contention hereafter. Russia contributed the first in her notification of November 13 to the ports that the arrears of the Russo-Turkish war indemnity amount to £1,300,000, and that if Turkey intends to apply part of the Greek war indemnity to an increase of the Turkish armaments Russia will demand the payment of this amount. This was followed by a second note on the same subject to-day.

W. T. STEAD'S LATEST

THE LONDON EDITOR ASSAILS THE GREATER NEW YORK.

WRITES A SENSATIONAL BOOK.

COMPANION PIECE TO "IF CHRIST CAME TO CHICAGO."

Calls It "Satan's Invisible World Displayed," or "Despairing Democracy—Tammany Rule Decried—Only Hope In the Press."

London, Nov. 20.—"Satan's Invisible World Displayed," or "Despairing Democracy," is the sensational title of a sensational book by the Greater New York, which W. T. Stead, the editor of the Review of Reviews, will give to the public of England and America next month as the fruits of his recent trip across the water. This book is the companion piece to "If Christ Came to Chicago." "But for Chicago, read New York, and for the other the Devil," said Mr. Stead, speaking to a reporter for the Associated Press of his newest creation. "Satan's Invisible World" was, according to Mr. Stead, revealed by the Lexow committee, and "Despairing Democracy" is the moral which he draws from the charter of Greater New York, which he hopes to be a legislative device of appeal by the citizens of their abandonment of faith in the possibility of governing a great city by popular suffrage. These revelations he reviews at great length, having succeeded in obtaining one of the five extant copies of the evidence.

OUR STOVE DEPT.

OUR PARLOR FURNITURE DEPT.

OUR CARPET DEPT.

OUR COUCH DEPT.

OUR RANGE DEPT.

Special Values This Week in SPECIAL PRICES THIS WEEK ON ALL OUR STEEL RANGES. Steel Ranges, four-hole, high shelf, equal to any $25.00 range elsewhere, THIS WEEK $18.50. Cook Stove, No. 7, equal to any $8.00 stove elsewhere, THIS WEEK $6.50. Heating Stoves, equal to any $6.00 stove elsewhere, THIS WEEK $6.50. Parlor Suits, six pieces, tapestry covering, equal to any $30.00 suit elsewhere, THIS WEEK $18.50. Parlor Suits, five pieces, brocade covering, equal to any $27.50 suit elsewhere, THIS WEEK $27.50. Parlor Suits, five pieces, over-stuffed, upholstered, carved frames, equal to any $40.00 suit elsewhere, THIS WEEK $42.50. Steel Ranges, 4-hole, with high shelf, like cut, worth $30.00, This Week $18.50. Steel Ranges, 4-hole, with high shelf, like cut, worth $30.00, This Week $18.50. Velvet Carpets, newest designs, equal to any $1.25 Carpet elsewhere, THIS WEEK 95c. Brussels Carpets, equal to any 6c Brussels elsewhere, THIS WEEK 50c. Ingrain Carpets, equal to any 35c Carpet elsewhere, THIS WEEK 25c. Corduroy Couches, tufted, worth $20. THIS WEEK $4.98. Corduroy Couches, tufted, splendid $20.00 values, THIS WEEK $8.50. Leather Couches, Turkish design, worth $25.00, THIS WEEK $25.00.

SHE MASQUERADED AS A BOY.

YOUNG WOMAN WANTED HERE FOR ROBBERY TELLS A WILD TALE.

Arrested in Omaha, It Develops That She Has Been Following the Man Who Killed Her Brother—Who to Slay Him.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 20.—(Special.) Masquerading as a boy, "Queenie" Stewart, a young mulatto woman, attempted to avenge her brother's murder to-day, by shooting Joseph Graves. Both are from Kansas City. Graves said he conducted a restaurant at 614 East Twelfth street, Kansas City, and was killed by Mark Redmond, September 2, 1896, for which he was acquitted. Since then the girl, dressed in her brother's clothes, claims to have been following him all over the country. When locked up to-day, the girl asserted that she would have Graves' life. Graves saw the girl approaching him on the street and once appealed to a policeman. The officer refused to help her to a woman, but took the pistol from her. Both were arrested, and Graves held a position at a local hotel as a porter, a few days ago, and no one suspected that she was a girl. She was so clever as to even deceive her aunt, Mrs. George Woods, of this city. She had been rooming there, claiming to be a student at the University of Kansas City. Mrs. Woods, who interviewed, emphatically denied that the supposed boy was a girl, and so earnest was her denial that she had to be taken to a hospital. Graves, who had a negro restaurant near Fourth street and Broadway, was arrested on the day of the shooting. He was ejected from the door. He secured a pistol and fired at Graves, who was in the door and shot him. He died at the city hospital.

SENT UP FOR SEVEN YEARS

KANSAS CITY PINKERTONS CONVICT TWO NOTED BURGLARS.

George L. Rigley and "Frenchy" Devere Found Guilty of Bank Robbery at Geneva, Neb., Yesterday.

A telegram reached the local Pinkerton headquarters yesterday stating that George L. Rigley, alias Davis, alias Joe Bush, and Thomas Wilson, alias Lovejoy, alias Devere, alias "Frenchy," had been sentenced to seven years each in the Nebraska penitentiary on a charge of safe-breaking. Rigley and Wilson were arrested at the instigation of the Kansas City Pinkerton bureau and were convicted on evidence secured by the bureau. Assistant Superintendent F. H. Tiltston worked on the case for several months and was present at their trial at Geneva, Neb., where they were convicted. Rigley was highly gratified at receiving the favorable message yesterday and talked freely to a reporter for the Journal about the robbery and some of its interesting features. Rigley is a smooth crook and safecracker and has done time in many penitentiaries. His home is at 313 South Twenty-fourth street, Omaha. He is more than 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighs 150 pounds. He is considered by the authorities a complete identification of the robbers and penitentiaries at Joliet, Ill., Jefferson City, Mo., and Fort Madison, Ia. He spent two terms in the latter prison, but when his last sentence was about to be transferred to the prison at Anamosa, Iowa, he was released. "Wilson," who is better known as "Frenchy," is a pug and has no fame among the rogues' gallery class of crooks. His home is "anywhere his hat is off." On the night of May 25, 1897, the bank at Ohlawa, Neb., was broken into and the safe was completely demolished. The robbers had picked a hole through the vault with a pickaxe, and had completely demolished the safe. The money, Gunpowder had been used to blow the hole through the vault. The contents of the safe had been insured against robbery in the Fidelity and Guaranty company of New York, and this latter concern, upon being notified of the robbery, at once put the attention of a reporter for the Journal on the fact that the Kansas City office, and Mr. Tiltston, had been notified of the robbery at Ohlawa, June 4, and after looking over the scene of the robbery, arriving some time after dark. A remarkable incident occurred during the trial of Rigley and Wilson, showing the keen intellect of the old Bohemian with whom the robbers had stopped the night before the robbery. He is more than 70 years old, and when he took the stand was barely able to walk up through the aisle with the aid of a heavy cane. He had previously been excluded from the courtroom. The state relied on the old man to complete its identification of the robbers and strengthen its chain of evidence. On the suggestion of the lawyers for the defense, the defendants slipped out from their seats and went to the rear of the courtroom. The state relied on the old man to complete its identification of the robbers and strengthen its chain of evidence. On the suggestion of the lawyers for the defense, the defendants slipped out from their seats and went to the rear of the courtroom. The state relied on the old man to complete its identification of the robbers and strengthen its chain of evidence. On the suggestion of the lawyers for the defense, the defendants slipped out from their seats and went to the rear of the courtroom.

THE GREAT VALUES

That no economical woman can afford to overlook. Money-Saving Chances that should crowd our every department with eager buyers the entire week. These Bargain Facts argue stronger than a volume of words.

Special Values This Week in SPECIAL PRICES THIS WEEK ON ALL OUR STEEL RANGES. Steel Ranges, 4-hole, with high shelf, like cut, worth $30.00, This Week $18.50. Steel Ranges, 4-hole, with high shelf, like cut, worth $30.00, This Week $18.50. Velvet Carpets, newest designs, equal to any $1.25 Carpet elsewhere, THIS WEEK 95c. Brussels Carpets, equal to any 6c Brussels elsewhere, THIS WEEK 50c. Ingrain Carpets, equal to any 35c Carpet elsewhere, THIS WEEK 25c. Corduroy Couches, tufted, worth $20. THIS WEEK $4.98. Corduroy Couches, tufted, splendid $20.00 values, THIS WEEK $8.50. Leather Couches, Turkish design, worth $25.00, THIS WEEK $25.00.

OUT IN CRACKERNECK.

A St. Louis Reporter Has the Experience of His Life in Marshall Hale's Company.

A reporter for a St. Louis evening paper came to Independence yesterday and went with City Marshal Hulce to Crackerneck and Blue cut to get pictures of scenes thereabouts and material for a story about the train robbers and train holdups. The reporter had a kodak. He was a timid appearing young man and as Marshal Hulce piloted him to the scenes of so many noted robberies he told the reporter that he was curdling like a rabbit. He was experienced in Crackerneck, and especially how they disliked newspapers. "Hulce led the reporter to believe that at any moment he was likely to be ambushed and he would certainly be shot at if it was discovered that he was taking pictures for publication. "Kelly's Crossing, where the last hold-up occurred, the reporter went down the track alone to make a snap shot of the scene. Suddenly two shots rang out from the woods and the reporter started on a wild run up the railroad track to where Hulce was waiting. The reporter had been attacked by the natives of Crackerneck but a moment later an old man with a rabbit appeared and Hulce, who had fired the shots at the rabbit. The reporter begged Marshal Hulce not to tell the story. Hulce was too good to keep.

SEVERE COLD WAVE COMING.

Zero Weather Predicted for the Northwest and Freezing Weather for This Section.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—The local weather bureau to-night gave out the following special bulletin: A severe cold wave has overspread the Northwestern states, with high winds and snow in Montana and the Dakotas. During the next 24 hours the temperature will fall to zero or below in the states of the Upper Missouri valley, and freezing temperatures will be experienced as far south as Kansas and Northern Missouri. In this section, Chicago and vicinity, the temperatures will fall below freezing Sunday night.

Cash or Credit. 1107-1109 MAIN STREET. Cash or Credit.

CUTTING TEETH AT EIGHTY.

MR. JACKMAN HAS EIGHT NEW ONES AND MORE COMING.

He's Mighty Proud of This Third Set of Teeth, Which Forced Out the Worn Ones as They Grew.

He is 80 years old and is cutting his third set of teeth, and William M. Jackman is as proud of them as he was seventy odd years ago when his second set of teeth began to crowd out the milk teeth of his childhood. In the right-hand pocket of his homespun vest Mr. Jackman carries eight old and worn teeth that were pushed out by the new ones. Mr. Jackman has a farm eight miles north of Sweet Springs, in Saline county. He is visiting his son, George, Jackman, who lives at 919 Jefferson street. "Them's my old teeth," said the old gentleman last night as he fumbled in his vest pocket and brought out the eight teeth which had been worn down almost to the gums by constant chewing of food and tobacco. He rattled them together in his hand like a set of dice. "It was mighty surprising to me when the new teeth began to come out," he said. "The first one came a year ago. First one of my teeth began to get loose and bye and bye I pulled it out with my fingers and then I noticed what I thought was a tooth coming down all right. It was a bright and shiny as a new pin, and there she lay in my hand. "In the last year I've cut eight of 'em," said Mr. Jackman, "and there's the last set of teeth I've had. I've had a jaw two teeth that were just pushing through the gum. They were not old enough to be much use, and I was a little bit of a trouble to me. "Mr. Jackman's experience sets at defiance the old saying that a man's teeth are like tobacco chewing ruts in the teeth. He has chewed tobacco for nearly sixty-five years, and he has never had a tooth decayed. He had only two teeth that decayed; they began to ache, and fifteen years ago he had them pulled by a dentist. All the rest of his teeth were sound, but became worn simply to the gums, and those that were not pushed out by new teeth are in good condition. A strange thing is that no new teeth came in place of the two that were pulled fifteen years ago. "Mr. Jackman has seven children living and five dead. He has thirty grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren. His wife died in the same way as he. One of his sons lives in Hightsville, Mo., and the rest of the children, except George, who lives in Kansas City, live on farms in Saline county. "Dentists say that cases like that of Mr. Jackman are very rare, but are spoken of in the textbooks on dentistry. Mr. Jackman says: "I've read about such things and heard tell of 'em, but I never knew anyone before to cut a third set of teeth.

THE MAJOR IS BELICOSE.

Fighting Joe Hudson Wants to "Lick the Spains" Out of the Spains.

Topoka, Kas., Nov. 20.—(Special.) Major J. K. Hudson is again on the warpath. He is dissatisfied with the policy President McKinley towards Cuba and is opposed to "bossism" in Kansas politics.

"Oh, how I would like to have hold of the Capital for a few weeks," he said to-day. "I would like to see the policy President McKinley would set the Kansas people afire on a Cuban question. We had ought to lick the stuffing out of Spain and free Cuba. Foreign nations would then have some respect for us. Now they have none. Our policy towards Cuba has led them to believe that we are a set of cowards. We should give Spain the same dose that Austria did Turkey the other day. We could settle the whole thing in twenty-four hours."

DINNER TO NEWSBOYS.

Salvation Army Will Feed All Corners at 1520 Main at 2:30 O'clock Thursday Afternoon.

Here is an invitation that will thrill with joy the heart of every newsboy in Kansas City. It is one they all expect, but when they are actually bidden to the Salvation Army Thanksgiving dinner they know it is a go. "That day is only second in importance to 'dinner day' itself. "J. L. Woods-Merrill, the newsboys' friend, and Major Henry St. John, who secured a god description of the men who had purchased the newsboys' dinner at 1520 Main street from 12 m. to 2:30 p. m. "HENRY STILLWELL, "Major Salvation Army."

PERSONAL.

S. M. Delano, Chicago, is at the Coates. C. H. Minner, Cincinnati, is at the Coates. R. F. Brandon, Boston, is at the Coates. George A. Kelley, New York, is at the Coates. H. D. Williams, St. Louis, is at the Coates. G. R. Crane, Chicago, is at the Coates. C. T. Barden, Springfield, Mass., is at the Coates. L. Stephenson, Jr., Menominee, Mich., is at the Coates. Charles D. Carey, Cheyenne, Wyo., is at the Coates. Mrs. Charles D. Wood, Denver, Col., is at the Coates.

TRIED TO KILL GEN. SHELBY.

Story Told at Taney County Campaign—How Shelby Sold Stolen Logs.

Just after the presidential election last year there were in Taney county two well known men with parties encamped within a short distance of each other. They were William J. Bryan and General J. Shelby. Mr. Bryan was there for post with political friends, and General Shelby, as United States marshal, was on government business. The disposition of logs stolen along the White river. Two such men in the country at the same time were related. One old man rode up and, after hitching his horse to a tree, asked for "old Joe" and then General Shelby came from one of the wagons. "There he is now," and for a few seconds the two men stood looking at each other. "I've heard that voice before," said Shelby. "This must be Bill Starnes. 'Tight you are,' said the stranger, and they grasped each other's hands. "General, do you remember the day we quarreled?" asked Shelby, when they were seated around the campfire. "It was you after we were licked by the Yankees, and you were scornful. I filled up on 'old mud' when you had me put under guard. I was mad, and in my drunken condition determined to kill you. I was ready that evening and got some 'old mud' on me, and when we received orders to saddle our horses I got as near you as possible. It was very dark when we reached White

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

Found No Other Person With Such Whiskers.

Legraud Larow of Lamar, Mo., has a beard which, perhaps, is the longest worn by any man in the world. He has never resided in Kansas, yet his beard "lays in the shade" the hirsute appendage of Mr. Peffer, through whose spanse of whiskers the gentle phyzs of the Sunflower state have whistled for many years. Mr. Larow's beard is seven feet in length at the present time. It has measured seven and one-half feet, but several inches have broken off. It has wonderful vitality, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.

LEGRAUD LAROW OF LAMAR.

beard. After leaving Chicago he visited many other cities, where he was on exhibition. But being a quiet and unassuming man, he soon tired of travel and city life and returned to Lamar, where he has since lived. He has exchanged photographs with quite a number of long whiskered men, but as yet has failed to receive the likeness of any whose beard rivals his in length or quality.